Ice Breaking Activity

Getting acquainted

- We all know, when we first meet each other, there's always a first step to be familiarized with one another. Does this mean it must be done serious and tediously?
Let's have some fun! :)

Circle the Chairs

1. Gather all participants in a room large enough to fit them all, and to place equal number of chairs in a circle.

2. Ask each participant to stand on a chair in alphabetical order.

3. Then, in alphabetical order and one at a time, all the participants must circle thru the other chairs, facing the person standing on, and getting its help not to fall from it, while taking the chance to introduce himself.

Remember not to leave anyone helpless, while crossing the circle! :)

And that's it! You're all done.

Congrats!
